New Orleans, LA - May 11, 2009 - A community meeting on the planned closure of the New Orleans Adolescent Hospital (NOAH) will be held tomorrow May 12th from 6 pm - 8 pm in the City Council Chamber.

The evening meeting time was specifically chosen to accommodate those citizens who work, or are otherwise unavailable during the day, to speak about NOAH in Uptown New Orleans. City Councilmembers, City Administration officials, local mental health experts and organizations will be present to hear citizens concerns.

Councilmember-at-Large Arnie Fielkow said, "Our still-struggling mental health care community will be severely and negatively impacted by the closing of NOAH. The Council has already held meetings, both public and private, with state and local officials on this issue. However, I know that many New Orleans citizens cannot attend day-time hearings and it is critical that their voices be heard." Fielkow added, "This evening meeting is an 'after-hours' opportunity for all citizens to come and state your feelings on NOAH."

Members of the City Council were approached with the idea of holding an 'after-hours' public meeting in the City Council Chamber at an ACORN meeting on April 16th in the Lower Ninth Ward. Citizens at that meeting expressed frustration that they were often not able to leave work and attend public hearings during the day. Councilmember Fielkow, along with many of his Council colleagues including Councilmembers Cynthia Willard Lewis and Cynthia Hedge-Morrell, agreed to help organize an evening public meeting.

The community meeting is organized by Louisiana ACORN and other community organizations. Invited guests include Judge Calvin Johnson (Ret.) of the Metropolitan Human Services

District, Dr. Kevin Stephens of the City of New Orleans Health Department, Cecile Tebo of the NOPD's Crisis Unit and other mental health care providers and experts.
